

A Guideline of Entry & Quarantine in Shenyang

Liaoning Province has issued new policy on entry of overseas passengers:

From March 19th 2020, all people entering from Liaoning must undergo 14-day quarantine observation!

So what do overseas travellers need to do after getting off the plane and enter Shenyang?

What are the specific processes?

See the latest epidemic management process here!

People entering from Shenyang should follow this guideline!

People entering Shenyang from overseas
(International flight passengers)

Fill in health declaration card, entry declaration form and entry registration card

Please take body temperature check under the direction of field staff in an orderly manner

People entering Shenyang from overseas
(International flight passengers transferring via domestic flight)

Fill in health declaration card

Please take body temperature check under the direction of field staff in an orderly manner

After the temperature measurement, it can be divided into two cases according to the physical condition of the individual:

No obvious symptoms and with symptoms including fever and respiratory symptoms

See below for the process of each case

No obvious symptoms:

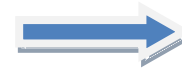

Being transferred to designated place by vehicles pre-arranged by relevant district governments

Centralized sampling for nucleic acid test

Residential places, workplaces, hotels or designated hotels
(14-day quarantine observation)

No symptoms

Body temperature $\geq 37.3^{\circ}\text{C}$, coughing

Being transferred by 120 transfer vehicle

With symptoms including fever and respiratory symptoms:

Questions & answers

1. What does “People entering Shenyang from overseas” include?

It includes international flight passengers and international flight passengers transferring via domestic flight entering from Shenyang.

2. What are the ways of quarantine observation for individuals without abnormal conditions?

Ways of quarantine observation varies in accordance with different situations, including quarantine observation in residential places, in workplaces, centralized quarantine observation in designated hotels and quarantine observation in self-chosen hotels.

3. Who pays for centralized quarantine observation?

For those who need centralized quarantine observation, designated hotels will be provided by respective districts and county (county-level city) governments. The expense of accommodation and food will be borne by the travellers themselves.

4. How to transfer to other cities in the Liaoning Province via Shenyang?

If people entering Shenyang from overseas need transfer to other cities in Liaoning Province, Shenyang COVID-19 Prevention and Control Headquarters shall contact the destination cities to organize the transfer. If transfer is made the day after and accommodation is needed, designated hotels will be provided and the expenses of accommodation and food will be borne by the travellers themselves.