The vast ancient Dujiangyan irrigation system was included on the list of UNESCO world heritage sites in 2000.

The 5-square-kilometer Jinsha site in the city’s western suburb has been hailed as one of the major archeological discoveries in China.