In 1925, Du Meixi met a French girl named Oceane in Marseilles, France. They fell in love at first sight, got married and had four children. During World War II, they moved back to Japanese-occupied Shanghai to settle down and take over Du's family business. After half a century, Oceane had grown from a young girl into an old lady, fitting into Chinese life gradually. However, while bringing the family French elegance, she also became the source of disaster for the family.

The story takes place from the perspective of Oceane's grand-daughter A-mei, in the 1960s and 70s, and shows how families helped each other through dark times.

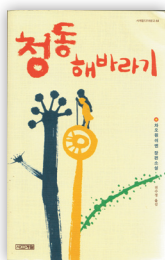

Although the turmoil in China deprived people of their properties, dignity, and even their lives, the self-esteem and elegance inside people's hearts never died.

The Night Before Chinese New Year
Written by Qi Zhi
ISBN 978-7-5346-8359-6
Price: 18.00 Yuan

Writer's recommendation:

This is a heart-warming story about a group of childhood friends. Their tale unfolds naturally against a rural backdrop of village streets and houses. The open sky, fields, rivers, trees and grain fields; dogs, sheep, and chickens... all these are the simple components of the story, and of their homeland.

Part of content:

I trod in my father's footprints as I walked back to the village. His footprints were so large that they completely swallowed mine up. Our house came into view, and I saw my father hanging up a big fish beneath the eaves.

Its body was wrapped up in newspaper; its head and tail sticking out from either end. I fished the last firecracker out of my pocket, set it alight, and threw it.

Bang!

Qi Zhi

The long-awaited new novel from the acclaimed Chinese children's author, Qi Zhi.

This is a heartfelt story of home and times gone by; a simple tale of a young boy and his friends.

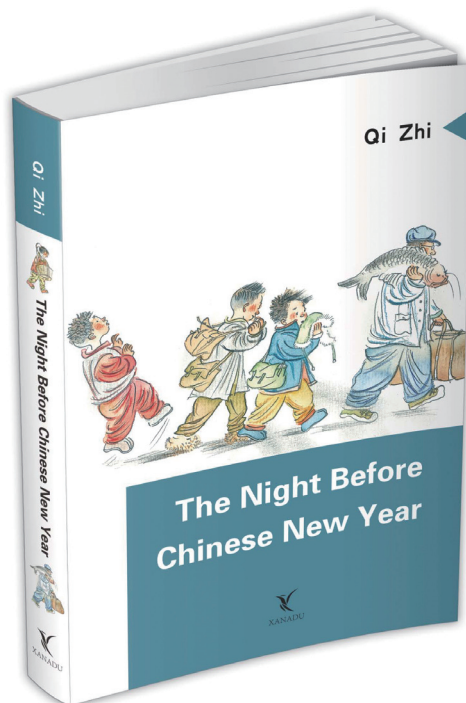

It's the winter holiday, and ten-year-old Trickle and his friends have to wait one more month before the Chinese New Year begins. Each has their own hopes and dreams as the New Year approaches. And for Trickle, the day before New Year is when he finally gets to be reunited with his father, who spends all year working in the city. The Blue Pentacle is a novelette and short novel collection, including 15 novelettes and short novels published in youth magazines, most of which have won prizes.

Different from the White Shell, the protagonists of this book are almost middle school students. Therefore, compared with the White Shell, this book is less childish but has more concerns about friendship and life, which is the problem the young people in adolescent period start to explore and think about. Cheng Wei found that the psychology of middle school students in this period becomes richer and richer: they become sensitive and rebellious, have high self-esteem and even lose themselves. They are getting to know the society as well as the same-aged people and themselves. Meanwhile, she also tells other youths what the real friendship is, and how to view the life, to face the honor, and communicate with people - even the ones you dislike.
