The Jilinguo Industrial Park in Jilinguo district is one of the first national-industry demonstration and reproduction centers in China to host a significant number of industrial parks in terms of scale and influence since 2003.

"Investment programs are the driving force of an industrial park," said a spokesperson at the Jilinguo Industrial Park.

Over the years, the Jilinguo Industrial Park has been working hard to attract enterprises, especially Fortune 500 companies, to invest in the park. The park has attracted more than 50 companies, including Fortune 500 companies, to invest in the Jilinguo Industrial Park.

"Our park is the only one in the Yangtze River Delta that has attracted so many Fortune 500 companies," said a spokesperson at the Jilinguo Industrial Park.

The park has received a total investment of $5 billion from foreign and domestic enterprises, and the park's annual output value is expected to reach $10 billion by 2015.
