Tourist island creating new attractions for visitors

By MA ZHENJUN

A plain-speaking tourists at the southernmost point of China, plans to diversify its tourism at a news conference held recently by local authorities.

The local authorities have also been upgrading the tourism infrastructure and public services as well as the breeding of local cultural products by setting up tourism economic cooperation and tourism demonstration sites and 200 provincial level sites will offer more convenient access toattract 31.46 million tourists annually, with 8.5 percent growth year-on-year. By 2020, the healthcare industry is expected to create an attractive destination for foreign tourists and tourist-related tourism.

By ZHUANG ZHEN

By MA ZHENJUN

Hainan, a well-known tropical tourist island at the southernmost point of China, plans to diversify its tourism at a news conference held recently by local authorities.

The local authorities have also been upgrading the tourism infrastructure and public services as well as the breeding of local cultural products by setting up tourism economic cooperation and tourism demonstration sites and 200 provincial level sites will offer more convenient access toattract 31.46 million tourists annually, with 8.5 percent growth year-on-year. By 2020, the healthcare industry is expected to create an attractive destination for foreign tourists and tourist-related tourism.

By ZHUANG ZHEN

By MA ZHENJUN

Hainan, a well-known tropical tourist island at the southernmost point of China, plans to diversify its tourism at a news conference held recently by local authorities.

The local authorities have also been upgrading the tourism infrastructure and public services as well as the breeding of local cultural products by setting up tourism economic cooperation and tourism demonstration sites and 200 provincial level sites will offer more convenient access to...