A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show thattasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.

Refresh ing memories

The program should truly reflect these people’s struggles to live good lives and fight against disease.

Wang Tong, director

A new reality show that tasks people with cognitive disorders with waiting on tables aims to highlight their lives—and makes for unforgettable viewing, Wang Kaihao reports.