Wuzhong District ( 吴中区 ) 🥏

Wuzhong, being one of the most beautiful places in Taihu, with almost every visitor making the trip to Dongshan, Xishan, Luxiang Gucun and Mingyuewan Gucun. In ancient times, San Shan Dao (San Shan island) was a transit stop for all travelers making their way between Jiangsu Province and Zhejiang Province. Today it remains an excellent place for a holiday, to stay a night and savor some fresh local Taihu food, And when you depart Wuzhong, don't forget to bring some Biluochun tea, Baisha loquats, a piece of fine embroidery or a peach-nut carving.

Dongshan, also known as Dongting Dongshan, is located in the southwest of Suzhou City. It is actually a peninsula extending from Taihu, surrounded by water on three sides. The water is so expansive that the lake's horizon meets the sky. The lake is dotted with fishing boat sails and gulls. Dongshan has a large number of historic buildings and cultural relics such as Zijinan, the Xuanyuan Palace, Diaohulou (the famous carved floor house), Mingshantang, Ningdetang, Huaiyintang and the ancient and rare cultural relics of Sanshan, all of which are highly preserved. Not only can you see the natural beauty of hills, but also the unique combination of culture and scenery. It has been praised as one of the best examples of mountains, stone, residences, flowers, fruit and water.

It was the home village of Wang Ao in the Zhengde years of the Ming Dynasty where the villagers settled by hills. It has preserved more than 30 ancient architectural buildings from the Ming and Qing Dynasties, such as Huaigutang and Hauihetang. There are 3 decorated archways, Tanhua, Huiyuan, Jieyuan, in Zishi Street and Wang Ao's former residence is within the village. The back mountain, covered in tangerine trees, was the shooting location for the TV drama "The Red Tangerine". Hangushan is in north of the village, a low lying but beautiful spot, where at sunset, you may witness the spectacular red of a blazing fire.

Diaohulou was built in 1922 with characteristics of wood and brick carved gate houses. Formerly known as Chunzailou, it is considered to be a classic masterpiece of Suzhou's "ancient architecture of the Xiangshan Group". The gate house is on a grand scale with fine brick carving with an opera text pattern and considered very meaningful. The most delicate and simplest carving is the big hall downstairs. All the beams, columns, windows and gates are carved. The beam head is engraved with dozens of images from the Romance Period of The Three Kingdoms, including a full series of 24 filial piety images on the window frames. The hall, with 178 carved phoenix, is known as the Phoenix Hall.
